

Make a stand against cyberbullying

Cyber Mentors

beat bullying

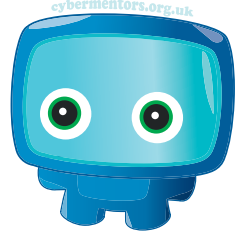

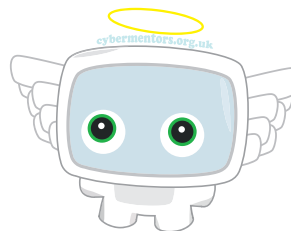

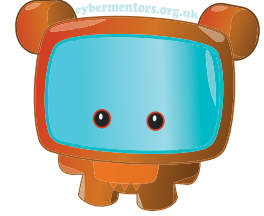

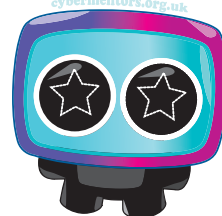

ALL SCHOOLS!

On Thursday, 14th May 2009, Beatbullying is asking every school to stand up against cyberbullying. Bullying using the internet or mobile phones is a growing problem for every child, and The Big Stand is a great chance for you to engage your pupils in important messages around cyberbullying, online safety, friendship and communication.

LESSON PLAN!

To make your stand against cyberbullying even better we're offering schools sheets of anti-cyberbullying stickers for purchase. These accompany a special Big Stand lesson plan which can be downloaded free. The stickers are a great way for pupils to show that they are standing up to cyberbullying.

Information about CyberMentors:

CyberMentors is a safe social networking site providing information and support for young people being bullied or cyberbullied. Young people, aged 11-25, are trained as CyberMentors, in schools and online, so that they can offer support and advice to other young people. Encapsulated by cutting edge technology, it is a safe website where young people can turn to other young people for help and advice. CyberMentors are also supported by trained counsellors, available online if needed.

How to order:

The specially designed stickers are a great way to engage students in the issue of online safety and cyberbullying. Each sheet has eight stickers.

The accompanying lesson plan, which can be downloaded free at <http://www.beatbullying.org/thebigstand/docs/lesson-plan.html> will provide activities and messages to help make your Big Stand even more meaningful and successful. Schools can buy the sticker packs in bulk and, if they choose, sell them back to students to raise valuable funds for the school.

To order, simply fill in the form below, detach and pop it in an envelope together with your cheque (made payable to Beatbullying Services Ltd) and send to:
